PART 2. FINTECH LAB

2.1. General introduction to FinTech Lab

- 2.1.1. The FinTech Lab is a regulatory environment within the AIFC that allows a Person to Test and/or Develop the FinTech Activities without being immediately subject to the full set of regulatory requirements under the Framework Regulations and Rules made thereunder.
- 2.1.2. FinTech Lab is designed to allow Persons to deliver effective competition in the interests of consumers by:
 - (a) reducing the time, and potentially the cost, of getting FinTech to market;
 - (b) enabling greater access to the market for innovative Persons, including start-ups;
 - (c) the AFSA collaborating with the Person to ensure that appropriate consumer protection safeguards are built into their FinTech Activities; and
 - (d) enabling FinTech Activities to be Tested and/or Developed.
- 2.1.3. Risk and failure are an integral part of innovation. The FinTech Lab is intended to incorporate appropriate safeguards to identify and manage potential and actual risks in order to promote development of FinTech Activities. Given that the FinTech Lab operates in a live environment, failure may result in financial losses to FinTech Lab participants and their customers arising from potential risks.

2.2. Testing the FinTech Activities

2.2.1. Eligibility Criteria

- (a) The regime for Testing the FinTech Activities is a live environment which allows a Person to test the validity of the following types of activities in a cost-effective and timely manner, in close collaboration with the AFSA:
 - (i) Financial Activities which are being regulated in the AIFC or similar to those that are already being regulated in the AIFC, where:
 - i. a different technology or process is being applied; or
 - ii. the same technology or process is being applied differently, meaning that an established technology or process is being applied to create a new business model;
 - (ii) Financial activities not currently regulated in the AIFC but regulated in other jurisdictions; and
 - (iii) Activities likely to be regulated in the AIFC as a financial or an ancillary service.
- (b) The regime for Testing the FinTech Activities is also suitable for a start-up that does not satisfy the full set of requirements for regulated activities, but intends to deploy FinTech Activities and to commit to complying with regulatory obligations gradually and with the approval of the AFSA
- (c) The FinTech Activities specified in (a) and (b) above must be intended to bring benefits to consumers, which may include, for example, increase of the accessibility, efficiency, security and quality in the provision of financial services, thus promoting better risk management solutions and regulatory outcomes for the financial industry.

2.3. Developing the FinTech Activities

2.3.1. Eligibility Criteria

- (a) Developing FinTech Activities provides access to a live market environment in which a Person can engage in activities that are currently regulated by the AFSA, or not regulated, without immediately being subject to the full set of regulatory requirements under the Framework Regulations and Rules made thereunder.
- (b) Developing FinTech Activities is appropriate in the circumstances where:
 - (i) it is not clear whether the proposed FinTech Activity would have demand in Kazakhstani or regional market (test the waters), and
 - (ii) a Person has a licence to operate the proposed FinTech Activity in other jurisdiction(s) which are not currently regulated by the AFSA, subject to the AFSA being satisfied that those jurisdictions have appropriate regulatory standards and practice.
- (c) For the purposes of 2.3.1, the FinTech Activities eligible for the FinTech Lab are those that are regulated and not regulated by the AFSA.

2.4. Application process

2.4.1. General overview

- (a) A Person seeking to Test and/or Develop the FinTech Activities within the FinTech Lab must meet the eligibility criteria specified in 2.2.1. and 2.3.1. and satisfy the application requirements specified in 2.4.3(b) to be granted with a Licence.
- (b) A Person may apply to the AFSA for a Licence to Test and/or Develop the FinTech Activities by:

2.4.2. Pre-application form

- (a) The pre-application process is intended to verify the eligibility of a Person to Test and/or Develop the FinTech Activities within the FinTech Lab.
- (b) The pre-application form is intended to provide information to the AFSA regarding the proposed FinTech Activities; to verify its suitability for support from the FinTech Lab; and to enable the applicant to become familiar with the AFSA's approach in fostering innovation within the FinTech Lab.
- (c) A Person must comply with the eligibility criteria before lodging the application form.

2.4.3. Application form

- (a) Once the AFSA is satisfied that the Person meets the eligibility criteria, the AFSA will invite the Person to proceed with submission of additional information necessary for assessment and authorisation purposes.
- (b) In assessing the application, the AFSA will consider whether:
 - (i) the Person has performed a rigorous due diligence on legal and regulatory requirements of the AIFC for deploying the proposed FinTech Activities and understands them; and
 - (ii) the Person has the necessary financial and non-financial resources to support Testing and/or Developing the FinTech Activities in the FinTech Lab; and
 - (iii) the applicant is fit and proper; and
 - (iv) the Person has submitted to the AFSA the business, testing and/or development plan(s); and
 - (v) other criteria that the AFSA may consider relevant have been met.
- (c) Upon submission of materially complete application form, the AFSA will review the application and inform the applicant of its authorisation decision.
- (d) The procedures for assessing the application, terms and conditions of issuance of the Licence are defined by the AFSA.
- (e) Nothing in these Rules prevents the Person whose application had been rejected from applying to the FinTech Lab again, provided that the issues causing the rejection of application have been addressed.

2.5. Licence

- (a) A Person must not Test and/or Develop FinTech Activities within the FinTech Lab unless it holds a Licence issued by the CFTO on behalf of the AFSA.
